BREAK THE NATIONAL ORDER

Resolutions Passed Containing Artistic Rossts on Loucks and His Crowd. How It Happened.

MEMPRIS, Tenn., Nov. 18 .- The closing session of the alliance convention was held at 9 o'clock, when the newlyelected officers were installed in the presence of about one-half of the delegates. The others were so much disgusted at the result of the contest for the offices that they remained away from the hall. A number of these delegates insist that as soon as they return to their homes and announce theresult of the action of the convention to their state alliance that a withdrawal from the national body will at once take place and a new order will be

The announcement of the election of Loucks was the last straw with his op-ponents, and they at once began ac-tion. A room was secured in the Gay-oso notel and the following manifesto was prepared:

First-We deplore in unmeasured terms the false, cruel and unjust war-fare which has been waged upon Bro. McCune by partisan leaders throughout the country, whose chief object was the destruction of our noble order. We do here and now assert our fullest confidence in Bro. McCune, and in the belief that he has been slandered and malled in the most cruel and wicked manner, without a precedent in positical partition warfare of this country, and by the enemies of organized labor and the productive in-

Breaking Up the Order. Second-We deplore the fact that these emisaries and minions, who are not even members of the order, have, by their assumed access to the secret actions of this body, sought to degrade this supreme council in the public mind and to produce discords and strife among the membership in order to impair its usefulness and to produce its ultimate rum.

Third-The efficiency and usefulness of this body has been impaired by these unfortunate agencies and the wicked perversions of the facts. While we believe the majority of this body to be sincere and in earnest, and to have at heart the good of the order; yet, we do most earnestly protest against the course that some of its members have pursued against our brother, Dr. Mc-Cune. That while we, as delegates, anali remain and participate in the proceedings of this body, we maintain that if these conditions are persisted in by future supreme councils, that we fear that the alliance and aggrieved states will be driven from the organization. All of which we respectfully sub-

The manifesto is signed by nearly all the southern delegates, headed by Ben Terrill of Texas. Parks of Texas took principal legatees were in the employ the document to the convention hall at of Joshua Hendy, and by false and Mct une's Friends Are Firm,

His demand that it be placed upon the records of the alliance, was protested against by members in sympathy with Loucks, but after a stormy debate. Parks carried his point. He then returned to the hotel and after a short time a number of the friends of McCune gathered in his room and discussed future operations. Among them were John H. McDowell, Governor Buchanap, Ben Terrill of Texas and Secretary Taylor. Terrill and Taylor, though elected to offices, are in sympathy with McCune, and when the signal is given, their friends assert that they will cast their fortunes with Lody. Their election was an sttempt to conciliate the McCune faction, but it was a failure.

Tonight the officers were installed in one room, while in another an open alliance meeting was held. The friends of the third party regarded it as a third party meeting and preached third party principles to the exclusion of the alliance doctrines. McCone tin ally came into the hall and loud calls wore made for him. He made a speech and scored the members of the third party executive committee, several of whom were in the audience.

What the Department of Agriculture Has Done for It. Coscond, N. H., Nov. 18 .- The Hon. J. R. Dodge, representing the department of agriculture, addressed the National Grange this morning. He is in sympathy with the work and aims of the grange, and explained how he is extending the activities and enlarging the usefulness of the farmers' branch of the government, seeking a further outlet for the surplus products of agriculture and the cheapening of the cost of production while facilitating the distribution that rural labor may be found full and profitable employment with fair remuperation. Numer ous resolutions were introduced, one endorsing Chairman Hatch's action as chairman of the committee on agriculture. The remainder of the session was devoted to the hearing of representatives of committees,

At the close of the evening session the council gave out a report on public schools, recommending steps be taken to promote the erection of Catholic schools; to provide for children who at present do not attend Catholic schools, and also to receive instructions on some other day or days of the week and by urging the parents to teach their children the christian doctrine in their homes. The Sunday and week day schools should be under the direct supervision of the clergy, aided by in-telligent lay teachers and, when possible, by members of religious teaching orders. The conference will conclude its business tomorrow.

CHICAGO, Nov. 18 .- Michael Betti, an Italian fruit vender, and his wife, left two little children locked in a room yesterday, alone. It is thought the elder of the children crawled to the stove and raked coals from it by which its clothing caught fire. In its anxiety to get out of harm it is supposed to have scrambled to the cradle, where its brother lay. The bedding in the cradle was ignited and the occupant was helpless. When the firemen arrived they im-

Cleveland's Cabinet.

AFTER CABINET POSITIONS

Unhappy is the Man Who Hangs on Prince Grover's Smile, for He May Get Left.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 .- Distinguished democratic politicians crowded the corridors of the Hoffman house this morning. They congratulated each other on last week's great victory, discussed the numerous candidates for places in Mr. Cleveland's cabinet, and ben most of them went up to the house of the president-elect to congratulate him. Among the leaders observed were Chairman William F. Harrity of the national committee, Chairman Don M. Dickinson of the national campaign committee, Lieutenant Governor W. F. Sheehan, Congressman W. C. P. Breckinnidge of Kentucky, ex-Governor J. E. Campbell of Ohio, Congressman Ben T. Cable of Illinois, Judge Tree of Chicago and General Jackson of Tennessee. General Jackson, Congressman Cable and Judge Tree called on Mrs. Cleveland during the morning.

Dickinson are here to wind up the business of the national committee at its headquarters. Mr. Harrity will be here until tomorrow night, and Mr. Dickinson until Saturday. They are paying all bills that have been left Chairman Dickinson said today that every bill would be paid before the office was closed on Saturday night.
At the conferences between Mr. Cleveland and the democratic leaders which have been held since the election many important matters have been discussed and decided. These meetings were not merely occasions of all-around congratulations. The future policy of the democratic party in reference to several important issues have been de-cided, so far as it can be before the democrats come into control of the

No Extra Session of Congress, There will not be an extra session of congress called after the inauguration of Mr. Cleveland next March. This much is stated positively by a man who is high in the councils of the democratic party and is very close to Mr. Cleveland. Only one reason has been offered by the few democrats who favor an extra session, and that was that the McKinley law ought to be repealed at once. This reason is not regarded as sufficient by Mr. Cleveland and his political advisers. While the democratic party is pledged to tariff reform, the leaders are of the opinion that changes in the tariff laws should be made slowly, and only after careful investigation of the workings of the

The plan has therefore been agreed on among the party leaders, and it is said on high authority to have the ap-proval of Mr. Cleveland. Some time during the last session of the fifty-second congress the democratic house of representatives will appoint a tariff committee composed of the leading democratic members of the house. This committee will be empowered to sit during the summer and investigate thoroughly the workings of the pres ent tariff law. The committee will collect a mass of statistics for the information of the fifty-third congress, and its report will probably be accompanied by a tariff bill. Instead of repealing the McKinley law and restoring the former rates of duties, the fifty-third congress will probably pass a bill containing an entirely new schedule of customs duties. Large reductions will, of course, be made on many articles on which the tariff was increased by the McKinley law. this morning that the plan to appoint a committee to investigate the tariff before preparing a bill was sure to meet the approval of business men and manufacturers. He said it would convince them that the democratic party would committed suicide this morning in his do nothing rash, and it would give all persons interested in the tariff a chance to be heard and to tell what they want.

Mr. Cleveland to Seek Rest, Mr. Cleveland has planned to go out of town with his family early next week. He has not decided where he will go, but his preference will be some quiet resort where he can get absolute rest for a while. The length of his stay has not been determined, but it is expected he will remain several weeks, and possibly until after the holidays. It is to escape the friends of men who are regarded as good cabinet timber that Mr. Cleveland is going out of town. They give him no rest at home.

Not one member of Mr. Cleveland's cabinet has yet been selected. His closest friends have talked to him a little about several men, but he has said making up his cabinet. One promi-nent democrat, a man who will get a good place in the cabinet if he wants it, said this morning: "I do not believe any one will know the name of a single cabinet officer before the middle of January. In fact I do not believe Mr. Cleveland will take up the matter un til that time."

The western candidates are numer ous. They are not asking for any particular portfolios. It is quantity rather than quality they want. They will take any places, provided always they get enough of them. Don M Dickinson, it is generally understood, can get anything he wants. It is said that he, like Mr. Whitney, has not decided whether he would like to go into the cabinet or take a foreign mission.

Cable for the Cabinet. Two other western candidates loom up strong at the Hoffman house this morning, and they were in every slate made by the politicians who were gathered there. They are ex-Gov-ernor James E. Campbell, of Onic, and Congressman Benjamin T. Cable, of llinois. The former, it is said, is not exactly seeking a piace in the cabinet but his friends are going to urge his claims, and he will accept a place if it is offered to him.

The friends of Congressman Cable regard his chances as excellent. He was in charge of the western branch of the democratic national headquarters, and to him goes a large share of he credit for the democratic landslide in Illinois and Wisconsin. He will pro-bably be the only candidate from Illi-which it was feared would carry him nois, as General Palmer, whose name | off. WILL THE LIGHT FAILS Grover Talks About Luminous, Guiding Rays at Villard's Dinner.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 .- The speech of Grover Cleveland at the dinner of Henry Villard last evening has just been made public. It was, in part, as

"Mr. Villard and gentlemen-I find it impossible to rid myself at this moment of the conflicting emotions which stir within me. I see here assembled good and staunch friends who have labored incessantly and devotedly for the success which has crowned the democratic effort in the canvass just closed, and I cannot forget how greatly those efforts have been chararacterized by personal attachment and friendship for the candidate selected to carry the democratic banner. This awakens a sense of gratitude which it is a great pleasure for me to thankfully acknowledge. I should not perhaps introduce anyknow that you will forgive me when I eay that every feeling of jubilation and even my sense of gratitude is so tempered as to be almost entirely obscured by a realization, nearly painful of the responsibility I have assumed in the sight of American people. When I consider that all we have to do, as a party charged with the control of the government, I feel more that our cam-paign, instead of being concluded, is Chairman Harrity and Chairman but just begun.

If we see nothing in our victory but a license to revel in partisan spoil, we shall fail at every point. If we merely profess to enter upon our work, and f we make apparent endeavor to do it for a cover for seeking partisan acivan-tage, we shall invite contempt and disgrace. If we attempt to discharge our duty to the people without complete party harmony in patriotic action we shall demonstrate our incompetency. I thank God that far above all doubts and misgiving we may constantly see the lights of hope and safety. The light we see is the illumination from the principles of true, honest and pure democracy, showing the way in all times of danger and leading us to the fulfillment of political duty and the re-demption of all cur pledges.

WORKED CLERGYMEN. English Clergyman's Son Brought Back to Kansas City for Forgery. KANSAS CITY, Nov. 18-Melville G.

Moore, until lately bookkeeper in this city, has been wanted here for some time for forgery and has just been lo-cated in Massachusetts. During the month of August, Moore cut quite a swell in the religious circles of this city. He claimed to have come direct from England nere and was the son of the Rev. John Moore, with letters from prominent English clergymen. He ingratiated himself into the favor of local nunisters, and then proceeded to borrow money from as many as possible. It is known that he owes the pastor of St. George church quite a sum, also the amounts he relieved them of. Young Moore put on a great deal of style here and went in the best society. He was an accomplished gentleman, evidently well educated and highly connected.

About the middle of August he secured a position with the Long Bell Lumber company as head bookkeeper in August and diligent inquiry failed to reveal his whereabouts. He forged a cheque for $50 on a St. Louis firm and Capt. W. H. Milier of this city had cashed it. The police were then put upon the trail of Mr. Moore and yesterday located him in the state Massachusetts. Steps are being taken to have Governor Francis issue requisition papers for Moore's return to this city to answer his crimes.

SMITH GETS BACK.

He Roasts Dr. Lowe for Not Sticking to the Charges.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 18 .- Late Thursday afternoon Prof. Smith began his closing argument in the heresy case at the First Presbyterian church, opening with a reply to the closing sentences of wherein he particularly charged Prof. Smith with something more than heresy, viz: Sin against the Holy Ghost or discussion, in which Prof. Smith, the Rev. Lowe and the Rev. McKibbon took part, concerning the scope of Dr. Lowe's remarks on the subject. Prof. Smith said he was on trial, as he supposed, for a specific offense against the church, and that the prosecution com-mittee should be held to the limitations of that offense as set forth in the citations. Yet Dr. Lowe had gone be yond the limitation and had charged him with the commission of a much greater crime than deflexion in his teachings, in which he was accused in the most spirited of the trial. Prof. Smith will resume his argument Monthe sufficiency of the charges. If they should be sustained the taking of testimony will next be in order and the question of Prof. Smith's guilt or innocence will be determined.

TROUBLE AMONG THE SAMOANS Natives in Arms Destroy a Village at Pago Bay.

SIDNEY, N. S. W., Nov. 18 .- Advices received here from Apia, Samoa, show that there is much disquiet in the group. Disturbances have occurred among the natives of the Tutuila is lands, arising from the claims of rival chiefs to the title of Mauga. Some fighting has occurred at Pago Bay, where the town was almost completely destroyed. No houses belonging to the natives remain standing. Property belonging to Europeans is still safe, not withstanding the threats of the natives to burn the wnites out. Chief Liejo has raided the villages of Ava and Fagagone, and burned the town of Leisto. He afterward retreated to Annum, an islet at the east end of Tutuda. A number of natives were killed or wounded in the fighting. Two inland tribes are about to join Chief Liejo, and this will in voive the whole of Tutula in war.
